CHRISTMAS AT SAINT ANNE'S

Good old Santa, in the person of relatives and friends, certainly made Christmas a never-to-be-forgotten season. Flowers and packages galore as well as greeting cards too numerous to count arrived for weeks before Christmas; but when the day arrived, the Home seemed deserted with two-thirds of the regular diners out with family and friends. However, the dining room was festive with gay decorations and white tablecloths. We will not soon forget Christmas, 1968, at Saint Anne Home.

Mrs. Ilene Fosnaugh, our beautician, rates a special vote of thanks for working overtime to "pretty up" all the ladies for the holidays. The only dissenting note was registered by Snoopy, our reporter, who says he was refused a bath and permanent. He wanted to "put on the dog" for Christmas. But fear not, Snoopy, we still love you; you sure made a strong impression on everybody.

BAZAAR

Saint Anne Home had its first annual Bazaar December 2, 1968. There have been many firsts in the year that has just passed; however, this writer feels an obligation and sense of pride in writing about the Bazaar.

It is an impossibility to mention the names of all the people who were influential in the success of this function, so we will just say "THANK YOU VERY, VERY MUCH."

The writer would feel remiss if the names of those RESIDENTS who worked so diligently and who made 230 items to sell were not mentioned in print. They are Zelda Beard, Agneta Baker, Elizabeth Conrad, Jennie Gilbert, Frances Konarzewski, Muriel Wagner, Verna Loney, Genevive Belda, Johanna Freistoffer, Al Sorg, Katherine Lyons, Esther Wieman and Catherine Moran.

These residents along with me thank ALL the residents for their moral support, and we sincerely hope that 1969 will find many new faces joining in the manual therapy program.

Oh yes, Frances Konarzewski decided that we should do something for each resident. She and Agneta Baker, Elizabeth Conrad, and Zelda Beard made the pretty Christmas decorations for each door and placed them on each door also.

TO ALL -- THANK YOU AND A VERY HAPPY AND HEALTHFUL NEW YEAR!
